Just how many days to go?
Llama Llama wants to know.

Time to buy and
search and shop.

Mama carries.

Llama drops.

Buy a friend a rubber duck?
Pirate ship or tractor truck?
Wooden blocks or building set?

What will Llama Llama get?

Llama Llama holidays.
Hustle bustle.
Cooking craze.
Measure sugar.
Roll the dough.
Ten more batches
left to go. . . .

How many more days, again?
The special day
is coming when?

Take the cookies out to cool.
Frost a great big batch for school!

Add some sprinkles. Almost done. . . .
Teacher gets the fancy one.

No more cookies left to bake!

Llama Llama tummy-ache.

School has dreidels, songs, and bells.
Big red ribbons, woodsy smells.

Draw a snowman. Make a star.
Decorate a candle jar.

Llama Llama
waits, waits, waits.

Cut out snowflakes.
Tape them up.
Pour some eggnog in a cup.

Oops! It's yucky on the floor.

Llama Llama waits
some more.

An illustration of two llamas in a festive setting. On the left, a llama wearing a blue patterned sweater and purple pants is seen from the back, reaching up to string lights on a large, dark green Christmas tree. On the right, another llama wearing a red jacket is looking towards the first llama with a curious expression. The ground is green and scattered with string lights and colorful ribbons. In the background, there are two cardboard boxes filled with colorful ornaments and decorations. The overall style is soft and painterly.

Stringing lights is not much fun.
How come Mama isn't done?
Is the big day coming soon?
Llama Llama starts to swoon....

All this waiting for one day?

Time for presents RIGHT AWAY!

Too much music, too much fluff!
Too much making, too much stuff!

Too much everything for Llama . . .

Llama Llama, HOLIDRAMA!

Come and listen, little Llama.
Have a cuddle with your mama.

Sometimes we should take a rest and hold the ones we love the best.

Wishing, waiting, wanting things . . .
we forget what this time brings.

Gifts are nice,
but there's another—the true gift is we have each other.

Llama Llama, warm and snug,
gives a kiss and gets a hug, snuggles close with Mama Llama. . . .

Happy holidays for Llama.
